Classroom News

We have been working hard in room 404. The kids have all adjusted very well to first grade! I have begun mClass assessments while they are in literacy centers and they are doing a wonderful job of staying focused and on task. Optional homework will begin this week. It will be uploaded each week onto Seesaw. If you have not accessed Seesaw yet, please do so as soon as possible. Additionally, please read with your child every night! I appreciate all of your support so far this year and am looking forward to a wonderful year!

Best,

Miss Rogers

Reminders:

Classroom News

I just wanted to do a Friday newsletter this week to update you all on a few things. Hopefully all weather is complete for the year and we can continue on with a wonderful school year.

Weather Related Make-Up Days

Wake County Public School System (WCPSS) closed schools from September 13th-17th due to the inclement weather from the hurricane. The Make Up Days have been revised. The make-up days are: September 28th*, October 19th*, and October 31st. Please note that September 28th and October 19th were originally early release days and are now full days of school.

Please refer to WCPSS's website, www.wcpss.net for further updates/ information about weather related make up days.

Fall/Apple Studies Next Week:

I would like to make applesauce with the kids on Friday. If everyone can send in 3 Apples on Thursday (any size, any kind) that would be greatly appreciated.
